This book is written as an advice to all young people who find themselves in love, and want to get married before knowing what they are getting into. Sixteen Years ago God had inspired me to write this book, and I kept putting it off but I just boldly put it together. This book tell why spouses should not be away from each other especially when they just got married. It tells of the consequences you pay for marring the wrong person. Your children s future hangs in the balance when you marry the wrong spouse. There are many wolves that are dressed into sheep clothing, some has the form of angels. Always seek compatible spouses that are in the same union with God as you are, never see someone and just fall into love with that someone saying to yourself I am going to change that person. You will be just setting up yourself for trouble, always remember a leopard is always a leopard his spots are always there, he never changed his color.
