It is quite natural to suppose that river men were like human nature on land, and in their opinion by their labor and hardships were making others rich, and, as reasonable beings, should club together, make a common pot of their means to build a new boat, and all work together to have the benefit of their own labor. Boats were often built on this plan, and it is noteworthy to observe that those who were the most loudmouthed about the grasping rich boat owners, were selfishness to the very bone, to talk others in for their benefit, to get the best paying positions. Outside of the common crew a boat had room for about from ten to twelve paying positions in different gradations from the captain downwards, to be distributed among the co-operators, each to have good wages to fit the grade of...
